

TRANSGENDER VOTING RIGHTS IN IDAHO

To be a successful voter, make sure to do the following:

- Register and vote using your current legal name.
- Plan on re-registering to vote at your county elections office when you are changing your name and I.D. (You may change your gender marker for demographic purposes).
- Register to vote early, either online (by visiting Idahovotes.gov and clicking on “Register to Vote!”), by mail, or in person at least 25 days prior to the election. For in-person early registration, you will need to visit your county clerk’s office. Alternatively, you can register to vote in person at the polls on Election Day.
- Verify your voter registration status.
- Identify your polling place and note the hours of operation.
- Bring a photo identification card with your current legal name or be prepared to sign the Personal Identification Affidavit.

Voting Scenarios:

- IF ...your I.D. and polling records match, you should have no issue.
- IF ...you will need to re-register to vote. You can do so by re-registering early online or in-person at your county clerk’s office. You can also re-register on Election Day at your polling place using your new I.D.
- IF ..don’t worry. As long as you are already registered to vote you can sign the Personal Identification Affidavit. Your vote will still count.
